'Heathers' Explodes on Tabor Stage

By Jean Perry

Tabor Academy 'rules the school' when it comes to selecting a smash hit title for its annual winter musical production, and this year's choice of "Heathers: The Musical (High School Edition)" fits the bill.

Based on the cult classic 1980s film, the more toned-down high school version still manages to shock, inspire, and teach, while still bringing the audience to delight in its darkness and at the same time articulating many of the most challenging issues of the life of a young person – bullying, depression, peer pressure, and trying to be liked and fit in. And although the show has been stripped of explicitness of the original movie (sans sex, swears, smoking, and alcohol and drugs), the show maintains its effectiveness in dealing with the cruelty of teenagehood and keeping the conversation current when it comes to school violence and the effects of bullying – subjects that are extremely important and as relevant today as ever – but don't feel bad if you find yourself laughing and even relishing a bit of revenge fantasy and in-touch with the 'Veronica Sawyer' within all of us.

The musical is directed by Tabor's English and drama teacher Mark Howland, and features a cast of two-dozen actors who make up the hierarchy of Westerberg High School. At the top of the food chain sits the Heathers: the cruel and powerful "red" Heather Chandler played by Kelsey Boch, next in line is "whipping girl" of the clique "green" Heather Duke played by Emma Quirk, and the beautiful, but not-so-bright, "yellow" Heather McNamara played by Mia Vaughn.

Our heroine Veronica Sawyer, played by Ellyn Cunningham, finds her way into the most powerful clique at Westerberg and soon realizes that, well, she hates her new best friends.

"I really identify with my character Veronica," said Cunningham. "I'm a lot like her, except I don't murder people!"

"Like a lot of people, I've been bullied and I've experienced a lot of the same issues," she said.

Boch, however, says she is nothing like her character – the "mythical bitch" of the show, as Heather Chandler is known.

"It's been kind of hard, actually, I've felt bad because I've been saying such horrible things to my friends (acting in the show)," Boch said. "But it's been very helpful to me as an actor playing the character and walking in these different shoes. You can really learn through a role like this. I've enjoyed being in the shows year to year and it's been a real honor."

Howland had this to say about the show: "While [the show] delves into such hot-button topics as body shaming, sexual harassment, and suicide, it does so with humor and sensitivity. The creators have claimed, in fact, that they feel the show is about female empowerment. Rather than avoid these taboo topics, [the show] tackles them head on but through the lens of satire, showing us that high schoolers need to be kinder to each other, and adults who work with them need to be more clued in. Our goal is that the show be a catalyst for the school community to further awareness and empathy."

During the dress rehearsal on Friday, February 1, the crew was busy getting the sound and lights just right, moving the sets into place, and the actors found their voices and sank deeper into their characters in full costume. On a large projection screen at the back of the auditorium, Music Director Philip Sanborn could be seen conducting remotely to a remote orchestra, something new that Tabor has never tried before, Howland said.

The show runs February 14, 15, 16 at 7:30 pm in Tabor's Fireman Center for the Performing Arts in Hoyt Hall at 245 Front Street, Marion. The show is free and open to the public, no tickets or reservations required.

Straus Offers Bond Bill 'Bump' for Marion Sewer Spending

Marion Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

State Representative Bill Straus gave his word to the Marion Board of Selectmen on January 30 that as the town's legislator and one who regularly "bumps" into the governor, he would advocate for the full $2 million share of a state bond bill to be granted to the Town of Marion to assist in the cost of upgrading its wastewater treatment facility.

The three selectmen met with Straus during an early morning Wednesday meeting to talk about the Sewer Enterprise Fund's $18,805,000 outstanding debt and the additional $2,500,000 debt to be issued in fiscal year 2020 to cover the cost of the lining of the wastewater treatment plant's lagoon 1 and associated plant upgrades.

According to a handout provided by the board, Marion's 1,692 sewer ratepayers in 2018 generated $2,768,807 in revenue, covering the $2,422,601 in expenses, of which $1,321,214 is debt service. For every $2 million of debt, the average annual sewer bill goes up by 4% to 7% depending on the interest rate. What's more, the selectmen anticipate having to spend an additional $5 million in wastewater upgrades over the next few years just to satisfy the immediate mitigation measures mandated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection.

"All this is going to drive up sewer rates because it's going to drive up debt service," said Selectman John Waterman. "What really concerns us is this is really going to go up from here ... and it's going to drive up the sewer rates and it's already a hardship."

Which is why selectmen are hoping Straus can assist them in getting a $2 million piece of the state's $1 billion pie served up specifically for capital, with a portion of it reserved explicitly for projects like this in municipalities located on Buzzards Bay.

"[For which] Marion is eligible under the terms of the statute. ... No one else qualifies under these terms, and we wrote it that way," Straus said, "for resiliency projects under this, and we will be asking for the full $2 million under the bond."

In the meantime, however, the Town must have its $2,500,000 lagoon 1 lining project completed by December 1 of this year, and if – with an emphasis on the uncertainty of the outcome – the Town is allotted $2 million or any amount less than that, funding won't be available until at least July 1 at the start of fiscal year 2020. The contract for the project will be awarded to the winning bid within a month's time and signed so that construction can begin in the spring in order to meet the December 1 deadline for completion.

Straus added that the governor just about two weeks ago announced a new tax the state will impose on real estate transactions to fund a program for towns to address climate change related storms resiliency.

"I'm not in any way suggesting you wait for that," Straus said, given the time constraints on Marion's impending projects. For now, Straus told the board, "My suggestion is we think in terms of an initial meeting of some sort within the month at a higher level at the Boston office. ... The timing is good in terms of, traditionally, this is the time over the next two and three months when the administrator of finance is weighing requests for bond proceed money from all the agencies. This is the time those numbers are being collected."

The state will not announce bond proceeds to state departments until at least April, Straus stated.

"Obviously, you need things earlier [than April]. I'm going to predict that ... you're going to have to be committing to the contract, and at the same time saying we're hoping to get this $2 mill fed into the ledger, but you have to operate as if it's not going happen. You just have to move ahead."

"In a perfect world," commented Marion Town Administrator Paul Dawson, "everything goes just the way we want it to go."

"If [the state] identifies this project they'll say, hopefully, the full $2 million will be available ... some time during fiscal year 2020," Straus said.

"With all the things on that list," Waterman wondered, "how does he (the governor) know [Marion's project] is the one that he needs to keep on the list?"

"How do we get to him?" Finance Director Judy Mooney asked Straus.

"People bump into him, I assume," said Straus. "I will be very active. I'm sure [Senator Marc Pacheco] will as well. It's right to say – to the extent that other people who feel they have relationships [with the governor] – if they can say Marion is in need, they should."

Engineers Miss the Mark on Lagoon Cost Estimate

Marion Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

If the Sewer ratepayers of Marion were unhappy about having to pay for a $2.5 million wastewater treatment plant upgrade by December 1, they will be even unhappier when they hear the actual price is going to be nearly double.

The Marion Board of Selectmen on February 5 was waist-deep in wastewater woe as it struggled to understand how the Town's engineering firm CDM Smith could have gotten the cost estimate for the project so very wrong.

Town Administrator Paul Dawson broke the news publically when he reported on the two bids the Town received for the request for proposal to line wastewater lagoon 1 with associated upgrades. The lowest bid came in at $4,668,000 "clearly well exceeding our budget estimates and our appropriation."

Town Meeting voters in May of last year approved spending $2.5 million on the project, the cost estimate provided by CDM Smith.

"Obviously this has to go back to Town Meeting," Dawson said. "We have compliance issues here that we're currently required to complete," which is mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Work was slated to begin early April and be completed by the December 1 deadline.

"Obviously this throws a monkey wrench into that," said Dawson. "We'll need to try to figure out how to go to the regulators and adjust that schedule accordingly. However we cut this, obviously we need more time."

The only good news here is that the company with the winning bid has agreed to hold that $4.668 estimate long enough for Town Meeting to approve the amount.

Selectman John Waterman turned to CDM Smith representatives Bill McConnell and Matthew Pitta in the hot seats and said, "This put us in a tough spot because we have to go back to the voters for something we were told was going to cost $2.5 million. ... That's a huge miss. How do we explain to the voters how we could be that wrong?"

For Selectman Randy Parker, the problem is that CDM Smith and the selectmen had been using that $2.5 million figure all along, "Along with the other numbers that you have provided," he said. "And then this thing comes tumbling down. ... You're professionals! You didn't start this yesterday."

According to Pitta, several items will cost more than the engineering firm expected, including the actual liner for the lagoon and a layer of sand that needs to be thicker than anticipated. In one example, CDM estimated the removal of the sludge to cost $250,000 – the actual cost turned out to be $900,000.

Putting the project back out to bid isn't an option because, as Dawson explained, it would be too risky. The next lowest bid to come back might wind up even higher than this one. And if the Town doesn't go with this bid, it would face penalties of $52,000 imposed by the federal government, adding up to $1.5 million a month until the project is done.

So, as Dawson put it, "It's back to the drawing board [to] reconfigure how to apportion this in a way that isn't going to cripple the ratepayers."

Resident and Assessor George "T.J." Walker had more than once criticized CDM that night, earlier when he questioned why the Town uses the same engineering firm for the majority of its projects, and then later because of the cost estimate catastrophe.

"This is a colossal failure on behalf of our consultants and professionals," said Walker. "It puts the Board of Selectmen in an awkward position." He later added, "This is the only consultant that I am aware of for the Town, and if they make a mistake then they get paid to fix it. There's no accountability."

Walker said the selectmen should take a good look at that relationship, continuing, "We're in a real problem. The taxpayers and the ratepayers – there's no way they can pick up another $2 mill. I mean, their sewer bills are gonna be higher than their tax bills."

After some time discussing the matter, Dawson suggested the EPA might extend the deadline due to the circumstances, but the Town will still be liable for the project. The Town will also be revisiting the cost estimates CDM provided for other capital projects in town.

CDM's credibility certainly has been hurt, commented Waterman. "Burned once, we're going to have less confidence next time."

"I think we're all disappointed with the results," said Parker.

"We are too," said McConnell.

Earlier in the meeting the board discussed pursuing a $500,000 wastewater infrastructure 20-year plan, something that Waterman and Parker both supported, but Hills did not, evidenced by the ensuing 2-1 vote to approve developing an RFP to put out to bid. Hills said, as the Town works on the sewer projects it needs to accomplish now, devising a plan to address matters that are still unclear would be "spinning our wheels."

And as for approaching Town Meeting for the funding – for that, Dawson commented, "This is going to be a horrendous year."

"We ought to give it a try," said Parker.

What's most important is that the public gets familiar with the concept. "Maybe it takes two tries to get approval for funding for this," Waterman said. "Start to educate the voters on what this is about and why it's important."

In other matters, Marion resident Robert Partridge had been acting as a volunteer consultant of sorts helping the Town sort through its solid waste collection conundrum. After some research, Partridge presented the board with some options and corresponding price tags for curbside trash collection in light of an unfortunate year of repeated truck breakdowns resulting is trash collection delays and costly repairs to keep the aging truck operating.

The board could either seek funding from Town Meeting to purchase one or two new trucks that are either low-tech (rear-loading that requires a worker manually move the trash), or more high-tech (top-loading and automatic) truck, or outsource its curbside trash collection to a vendor.

Marion is only one of four area towns left that still collect their own trash.

A new low-tech truck would cost about $250,000 to purchase, with an additional $20,000-$25,000 a year in maintenance costs plus employee compensation, Partridge said, while a high-tech truck would cost about $450,000, but would only require one worker to operate. But what's more, the town would likely need two trucks.

Selectmen were surprised to hear that last February the Department of Public Works had sought an informal estimate from a trash collector company that showed a cost that was lower than the Town's current operating cost.

Partridge suggested the selectmen compile an RFP for outsourcing the collection so they can compare the information, "but it's going to become a costly matter for the town, one way or the other," he said.

Either way, Waterman suggested, Marion voters must understand that the Town has to do something.

"If we don't do either of those, we're gonna be out of the business because the trucks we have aren't running," said Waterman.

The board also met with members of the Finance Committee, Chairman Peter Winters and Alan Minard, because the board wanted an explanation as to why the FinCom is delaying approval for a $7,412 Reserve Fund transfer request to fund the 5.4 percent salary increase for Dawson.

But when Minard and Winters left the table after digging in their heels, the selectmen still did not have their transfer request fulfilled.

Minard did all the talking, starting by saying that the Reserve Fund was created for "emergencies," for example, the interim DPW superintendent's request for $18,000 for a frontend loader bucket, or other unforeseen expenses that call for more money than the original budget could accommodate.

The FinCom did approve the Reserve Fund transfer for the 8.8 percent pay raise for the fire chief, but Minard said the budget the committee and Town Meeting approved had no indication of a 5.4 percent salary increase – a raise that Minard said was given without first checking to see if there was money to fund it.

“And frankly,” Minard told the board, “I don’t think this is a very transparent way to conduct business.”

According to Minard, there is enough money in the budget to continue to pay Dawson at the increased pay rate through his retirement mid-March, with a remaining budget balance of $25,000 until the end of the fiscal year June 30.

“At this point we don’t see any reason to tie up $7,412,” said Minard, because once it is transferred, it cannot be used to fund another department’s emergency request.

“We don’t think that that is a very efficient way of handling town finances,” Minard said, equating a Reserve Fund transfer like the one for Dawson’s raise to “burying money in the backyard.”

Hills pressed Minard, saying the Reserve Fund is also to pay for potential pay raises, and, besides, the committee had already approved the transfer request for the fire chief salary.

“Is there a reason that we need to add $7,000 to a salary line item when you’re going to have $25,000 left over?” Minard asked. “Why would we add $7,000 to make it $32,000?”

“We have a valid expense we have to pay,” said Hills.

Waterman said he understood the committee’s past practice was to approve these transfer requests when they are requested.

“I had the impression here that it was done more to prove a point because a salary increase was approved [without informing the Finance Committee],” said Waterman.

Dawson noticed his name had been “bantered about” a lot that night, “And it’s not really about me, it’s about the town administrator salary line item,” said Dawson, reminding everyone that the Town was currently soliciting a new town administrator and all this bad press about not funding the salary doesn’t help attract qualified candidates.

“Nobody is going to apply for a position that doesn’t appear to be funded,” said Dawson. “The fact of the matter is, the position still needs to be funded and this action is going to have to be taken, why not do it now?”

The amount that was approved was $123,689, Winters stated. “If Mr. Dawson is leaving at the end of March then there won’t be a deficit.” So, if and when the time comes, he said, the FinCom will fund it.

After a bit more futile back and forth, Hills said, “Okay,” and thanked the two gentlemen.

Also during the meeting, the board appointed Police Chief John Garcia’s pick for the Marion PD’s next sergeant, Officer Derryl Lawrence. Sergeant Lawrence was first appointed as a special officer in Marion in March 2012 and was appointed as a full-time officer in February 2013.

The board will be holding a 10:00 am meeting on February 8 to interview the final two candidates for the treasurer position, but the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Marion Board of Selectmen will be February 19 at 7:00 pm at the Marion Town House.

Selectmen Delay Signing Solar PILOT Agreement

Rochester Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

The Rochester Board of Selectmen is in no hurry to enter into a payment in lieu of taxes (PILOT) agreement with Clean Energy Collective (CEC), the solar developer of a solar array field at 268 Mattapoissett Road.

On February 4, Principal Assessor Charles Shea told the selectmen about the disparity he sees between the PILOT revenue the Town receives from the solar array field on Snipatuit Road owned by Melink Corporation and what Shea anticipates the Town will receive from Clean Energy Collective.

According to Shea, Melink pays $23,000 annually under its PILOT agreement for the valuation of personal property and $28,000 for the valuation of the real property.

"So there's about $50,000 coming in from a 1-megawatt system pretty much identical to the solar system [on Mattapoissett Road] and, as an assessor, I'm seeing a disparity."

Shea said, "I've heard $20,000 a year" from CEC's 5-acre, 1-megawatt solar field. "I just see, as an assessor, a differentiation in outcome and I wondered what I might have done wrong in the first one and how ... I'm supposed to approach them in the future."

"There's a lot that's changed since we signed that first one," said Town Counsel Blair Bailey.

Bailey explained the situation, saying that the two sums from the two solar array fields differ because the Melink PILOT was formed under a previous state program that allowed municipalities to include both the valuation of personal property (the solar array equipment) and the property tax. Now, Bailey said, the law has changed and solar companies have found a loophole in the tax code that Bailey said in a follow-up that CEC wants to take advantage of.

"A recent batch of cases in front of the ATB are about whether they took a provision of the tax code meant for one thing and made it apply to another," said Bailey, further clarifying, "The tax code says any solar facility that provides power to a taxable facility is not in and of itself taxable." Bailey said this new law was designed to encourage solar energy development and consumption in the state.

Taking all that into consideration, Bailey told Shea, the average agreement price that he could find in the state right now on a megawatt basis was $10,000 per megawatt on property, while other states average $20,000 a megawatt. The question is then, said Bailey, is a PILOT agreement in the best interest of the Town?

"We can certainly say no, we're not going to agree to a PILOT," said Bailey. But, he said, if CEC gets a tax bill from the Town, "The next step is the ATB."

Shea argued that the Assessors' Office should take CEC's revenue into consideration when targeting a sum for a PILOT agreement, but according to Shea, CEC refused to provide it.

"I want to see some data," said Selectmen Chairman Greenwood "Woody" Hartley. "I want to see some numbers – the difference between the two [solar projects] ... so that we establish a standard that we can stand behind."

Bailey, however, cautioned that this was not the legal way to assess the value of property. When the Town assesses the value of property for any other business in town, he said, it is not based on how much money the business makes.

assess on the basis of profit," Bailey said.

Selectman Brad Morse suggested tabling the discussion until the next meeting in order to gather further information before a vote.

"We really want to see some data," said Hartley.

During the follow-up with Bailey, he said a PILOT agreement is something that benefits both the solar company and the municipality because both parties can accurately anticipate the sum it pays and the sum it receives, respectively, over the term of the 20-year long agreement.

In other matters, the board is concerned about the rising cost of tuition for Rochester students to attend Bristol County Agricultural High School. The Town anticipates 12 students will attend Bristol Aggie this next fiscal year at a cost of $25,000 per student, the rate the school will charge for out-of-district students.

Bristol County students' school districts pay just $1,900 tuition.

Hartley said the legislation allows agricultural high schools to "charge us almost whatever they want," and he wondered if that legislation adopted in the early 1900s was no longer fair to towns like Rochester.

Morse commented that when he was first elected to the board 15 years ago, the tuition was $12,000 per student. Rochester has more students per capita attending Bristol Aggie than other towns, Hartley pointed out, which affects the Town's budget to the tune of 29% in the Bristol Aggie line item.

"And with Proposition 2 ½, that doesn't work," said Town Administrator Suzanne Szyndlar.

But both Morse and Hartley emphasized that Bristol Aggie is a good school and that the board was in no way unsupportive of Rochester students attending the school.

The selectmen also approved two upcoming events that will pass through Rochester: the Tour de Crème on May 19, and the On Your Left Racing Triathlon event on July 27.

The board accepted the resignation of Robert Mogilnicki from the Historical Commission, which leaves one opening on the commission. Anyone interested may

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

My parrot only like the sunflower seeds in her seed mix. How can I get her to eat the other seeds?

I equate an all seed diet to an all-white bread diet. Ok, in the short run, but severely deficient over time. Seeds lack vitamin A and a number of essential oils.

What should I feed my parrot?

Feed pelleted bird food. It looks like dry dog or cat food but much smaller, and its formulated for birds. To this add fresh fruits and vegetables. Offer the seeds for 10 minutes in the morning and 10 minutes in the evening and leave the pellets, fruits and veggies available for the rest of the day.

Subdivision Hinges on Stormwater Control

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

As is the case on many local boards and commissions, those volunteering their time to aid municipalities in such important matters as subdivisions do not always possess technical backgrounds or experience in complicated issues such as soil analysis or threshold rainfall depth for groundwater saturation. Yet, given sufficient total immersion through the public vetting process, crash courses if you will, these board and commission members absorb knowledge. And then there are the peer review consultants who are hired by the Town and paid for by the applicant to oversee weighty technical matters on behalf of the towns.

But some town board volunteers are, in fact, lawyers, contractors, and engineers bringing with them vast understanding and experiences; thus, the ability to grapple with construction-related impacts on neighboring lands.

That was the case on February 4 when the Mattapoisett Planning Board invited Richard Rheume of Prime Engineering to informally discuss, one more time, Scott Snow's proposed Form C Subdivision Plan for parcels off Prospect Road now dubbed Eldridge Estates.

Snow and Rheume have both been before the Planning Board during previous meetings going back nearly a year. With each meeting, the applicant and his representative have presented at least two subdivision conceptual layouts, finally deciding on the one that will ultimately see the property divided into five lots – three existing and two new.

The topic of stormwater runoff has been a slippery one for Rheume, with the primary issue of rainfall saturation and runoff including methods for calculating water flow being questioned by board member Nathan Ketchell, himself a civil engineer.

As the other board members listened intently, Rheamue explained how he had used two methods to demonstrate that the stormwater runoff from the proposed subdivision would not increase the amount of water flowing across abutting properties via a stormwater management system.

Rheamue said he had used Technical Paper 40 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), and other methods also recognized by NOAA, for the purposes of hydrological modeling of 100-year storms and other timeframes.

Rheamue explained that with the NOAA model, in a 24-hour period, during a 100-year storm, 8.42 inches of rain would be discharged from the Prospect Road subdivision, while the TP40 standard calculated the rate to be 7 inches.

Rheamue also said that such matters would be further studied by the Conservation Commission when the application came before that governing body. He explained that the plans included the construction of a swale along the southerly edge of the property to deflect stormwater running in that direction to a detention pond.

For more than an hour, Ketchell and Rheamue discussed water flow, with Rheamue concurring that stormwater would not necessarily increase but that flow would; therefore, it would be collected in the detention pond where it could be discharged slowly into the ground. He also said that any existing stormwater problems on abutting properties would not be solved with stormwater plans being drawn-up for his client's project.

Planning Board Administrator Mary Crain said that G.A.F. Engineering would be the peer review consultant for Snow's filing.

A date of March 4 was set for the applicant to return with a plan of record and the formal public hearing is planned for March 18 if the applicant files in time. The project was granted an extension until March 31.

Also coming before the Planning Board was David Andrews of Bay Club, LLC with a request to extend the existing roadway covenant that is expiring.

This time board member Janice Robbins, an attorney with a background in real estate law, questioned the language in the covenant and wondered how the Planning Board could grant the request in the absence of technical reports on the completion of the roads in questions.

There was some discussion on the manner in which the massive subdivision's documents were executed with Andrews saying that former Highway Surveyor Wes Bowman and former Water and Sewer Superintendent Nick Nicholson had overseen the roadway construction for years. Crain said that more recently the current department heads had been following up, but that written reports were not submitted.

In the end, Robbins was successful in gaining an agreement that six lots would be held versus two as part of the awarded extension.

The board members also confirmed a previously agreed upon surety reduction for the Bay Club neighborhood of Shagbark from $250,000 to $50,000.

And lastly, Crain said that the Split Rock neighborhood within the Bay Club subdivision was not up for renewal or extension until later this year.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Planning Board is scheduled for March 4 at 7:00 pm in the town hall conference room.

Parking May Be Achilles' Heel for Proposed Bar

Marion Planning Board

By Sarah French Storer

It was a full house at the Marion Planning Board meeting on February 4 as the board heard the arguments at a public hearing for and against a proposed neighborhood lounge in the village.

Mike Achilles, the applicant for the Minor Site Plan Review and Special Permit to open proposed bar/restaurant at 149/151 Front Street, gave an impassioned presentation for his concept of a gathering place to be located in the former Book Stall property.

Achilles, his wife, and four children live four blocks from the location and "have a vested interest in the building," Achilles said. As a parent, Achilles went on, he felt that the village was missing a quiet place for friends to gather after work or after the kids had gone to bed, to catch up and socialize. His intention would be to serve spirits, wine, food, and desserts, and described the look of the establishment as reminiscent of an old library, adding, "It's not just a bar ... it's an experience."

Achilles appeared to be cognizant of the impact his proposed restaurant could have on the neighboring businesses. He said that the hours of operation he chose – opening at 3:00 pm and closing by 10:00 pm – would not compete with the hours of the restaurant located across the street who would share the very clientele Achilles is trying to attract.

There is a maximum occupancy of 50 people, including employees, and Achilles proposes 20 seats.

The business is located in a Limited Business District, which reduces the required parking to 70 percent of the normal requirement; therefore, Achilles must provide approximately 18 off-street parking spaces. However, the Planning Board may reduce that number if they believe the business does not warrant that number and may take into account nearby on-street parking.

Achilles also suggested that many of his customers would walk to the lounge from their homes nearby and said he does not intend to advertise his business outside of Marion. In addition, he indicated that he has a "gentlemen's agreement" with Hiller Oil next door to use five parking spaces behind the building for employee parking in the evening. Lastly, Achilles is hoping the Island Wharf public parking lot could be another source for parking for his customers. He stressed that he would actively work to keep people out of the private parking lot shared by other nearby businesses.

After an inquiry from board member Kristen Saint Don-Campbell, Achilles noted he intends to place signage on his doors and menus educating his customers about the appropriate places to park. Achilles has spoken with the fire chief and will address any fire safety issues. The building commissioner has suggested the ADA required ramp might need to be moved to the left side of the building.

Board member Eileen Marum raised the issue that would be repeated all evening – the use of the Island Wharf municipal parking lot to subsidize a business for the fulfillment of its off-street parking.

Achilles maintained that the lot is public parking, and, as such, would be available to his business as much as for any other use. He also said he did not think there would ever be as many as 20 cars parked for his establishment.

Board member Andrew Daniel expressed enthusiastic support, saying, "I applaud you and your ambition to start a new business – I applaud your thoughtfulness ... and visiting other businesses. [The Island Wharf] is a public parking lot. We can't pick on this business – parking is an issue in the village. We should support small business if [it is] allowed by law.

When board member Norm Hills asked if Achilles had spoken with the businesses across the street about using their lot, Achilles described the issue as "contentious". Hills observed that the board should speak with town counsel about the use of the Island Wharf to determine if it is public or resident-only parking and its use to fulfill parking requirements by a business.

Acting Chairman Steve Kokkins suggested the board ask town counsel, if the intent for the bar changed with a future owner, could the board tie the special permit to Achilles' ownership.

Kokkins also asked Achilles to describe whether the business was a bar or a restaurant. Achilles said he would be applying for a pouring license with the state and would be considered a restaurant because 45 percent of his revenue would be from food.

Marum asked about the waste management plan and noise control. Achilles said there would be a dumpster on the left side of the building, allowed through the agreement with Hiller, which he would replace with daily trash pick-up if necessary. The restaurant, Achilles said, would be a "mature lounge" that closed by 10:00 pm and he did not anticipate any noise issues.

Kate Ross, owner of the restaurant across the street, rose to address the board. She enumerated two main concerns about the project: parking and competition. While she described herself as pro-business and "all for competition and critical mass," parking, she said, is always an issue in the village.

Ross has been in business for six years, and the private lot she shares with the General Store is paid for through her rent and maintained by the landowner. She has had issues with people parking in the lot to go to the beach, to go shopping in the village, or go to the post office. She suggested that a person going to Achilles' bar would take up a space for, at a minimum, an hour. She questioned whether the change of use of the proposed location would trigger the bylaws requiring off-street parking.

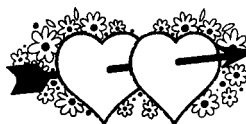

Ross also questioned the ability for Achilles to sustain his business relying strictly on Marion residents. She said, "Every winter I go into debt to keep the lights on because it is a meeting place. ... I don't shut down because my staff needs their paycheck. My business would not survive without people from out of town."

Peter Douglas of 226 Front Street said he considered the proposal to use the Island Wharf parking lot a subsidy to a small business.

Mary Verni, president of the Sippican Woman's Club, expressed concern about the possible noise from the restaurant impacting the club's tenants in the two apartments in their building at 152 Front Street. In addition, Verni noted that people attending the club's evening events might have trouble parking, which could affect the club's ability to fundraise for their mission of giving scholarships in the community.

While Andrew Bonney of 22 Main Street "loved the notion [of being able] to get together without being a place you need a membership," and while he appreciated all the effort the Achilles family has put into the proposal, he also thought the business should be compliant with all regulations.

"On-street parking is using public space," Bonney said, and he pointed out that the Inn at Shipyard Park in Mattapoisett has a similar issue with overflow parking at the wharf and may be good for reference.

Dan Crete of 69 Holmes Street spoke in favor of the business, saying, "A little bit of competitiveness is good, [and there is] capacity to support similar businesses."

As a member of the Master Plan Implementation Committee, Crete felt this proposal fit well into that plan, but warned the board that there will be a lot of "collisions between the Master Plan and current bylaws."

Kokkins summed up the discussion with the suggestion that the board put a list of questions together for town counsel to answer. The hearing was continued to February 19.

In other business, the board was asked for comments by the Zoning Board of Appeals regarding an application for a Special Permit by Stephen and Jane McCarthy at 43 Dexter Road to raze an existing house and rebuild in the same location, in a velocity zone. Hills stated that he "took exception to the discussion" that the new structure is "less non-conforming" than the existing one. He believed that the applicants measured from the wrong point on the property to make the case that the new house was farther from the velocity zone. In addition, Hills did not agree with the applicant's contention that the structure was "in accordance with other structures in the area." The board's comment to the ZBA simply stated, "The applicant's statements on degree of nonconformity need to be carefully reviewed for accuracy."

The next meeting of the Marion Planning Board is scheduled for February 19 at 7:00 pm at the Marion Town House.

Another Solar Project Planned for Rochester

Rochester Conservation Commission

By Marilou Newell

Before the February 5 meeting of the Rochester Conservation Commission kicked off, Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon introduced two new members. Filling vacant slots on the commission and making their first official appearances were Lena Bourque and Kevin Thompson.

Then it was on to the business at hand, continuing hearings, and opening a new one for another solar array project headed to Rochester.

Coming before the commission was Pedro Rodriguez, Solar MA Project Management, LLC, Series

XXXVI from New Milford, CT, along with Dan Wells of Goddard Consulting, LLC of Northborough and Austin Turner of Bohler Engineering, Boston and Southborough.

The team described the project planned for forested lands abutting Old Middleboro Road and Walnut Plain Road as a 33-acre solar array field situated in over 140 acres. A service roadway was also briefly discussed.

But the bigger issue this team faced was related to several easements they would need to access and develop the property, as Old Middleboro Road meanders through the site.

During the nearly hour-long presentation, Farinon expressed frustration that the wetland delineations had not been completed yet in spite of numerous meetings with the developer and his representatives.

"There's going to be a lot of disruption just to get from the road to the site," she said, disruption that will include jurisdictional areas.

Wells said that most of the site is outside jurisdictional wetlands and buffer zones, but said that the National Heritage & Endangered Species Program had certified the entire acreage as a habitat of the endangered Eastern box turtle.

Commission member Chris Gerrior recused himself from the discussion because he is an abutter, but still asked Wells what considerations were being made for the turtles' movement post construction. Wells said a 6-inch gap in the chain link fence would accommodate their migrations.

Gerrior also asked if ancient stone walls throughout the site would be left in place or if they would have to be removed. Carter said nearly all would be taken off the site to allow for the solar installation.

Conservation Commission Chairman Michael Conway asked about the chemical composition of the panels themselves. Rodriguez said he would provide materials data sheets.

During Wells' presentation, he noted the need to identify and work with a group who could become the holders of a conservation restriction planned for many acres around the site. Farinon indicated that it would be a conflict of interest to suggest that the Conservation Commission be that party, given that the commission was also involved in permitting the project. She said she would provide contact information of land trusts and conservation groups in the area.

Then came the question of when the project would begin. This question brought to the surface issues Rodriguez had been working through with legal counsel and the Town's counsel regarding easements. He indicated that he had been working with Eversource for nearly two years and had reached a point where they agreed to a partnership. But that didn't address the status of easements. Farinon expressed her frustration again, saying, "Wetlands for the access haven't been flagged yet."

Rodriguez commented that he believed agreements were forthcoming regarding conveyance issues, but that didn't sit well with Conway or Farinon.

Farinon said she and others had already spent a great deal of time consulting with the team and advising them on how to move forward through the permitting process, but here they were without even the wetlands being delineated.

"No one communicated to me ... you knew you weren't ready," said Farinon.

Conway suggested that a continuance until June might find the developer ready rather than monthly continuances that amounted to "a waste of time." He said bitterly, "I'm sick and tired of all these continuances."

Wells asked that instead of waiting until June to return to the Conservation Commission, especially given that they have a meeting next week with the Planning Board, that maybe they should ask to re-open the hearing in March.

Conway countered, "Sure, and if you're not ready we can vote 'aye' or 'nay' on your project."

The hearing was continued until June 4.

In other business, John Churchill, representing the conjoined Notice of Intent hearings for the properties located at Plumb Corner, 565 Rounseville Road, owned by Sophia Darras and Gibbs Bray, gave an update on the stormwater discharge design. He said that the original discharge pipe installed sometime in the late 1980s would be replaced with a system that allowed stormwater to be collected and recharged into the ground. Rainfall calculations were offered and he said he awaited comments from the peer review consultant Ken Motta of Field Engineering to complete changes that would update and improve the water discharge system.

Conway said he had not received an answer to a question he had previously asked – whether or not the stream located near the discharge pipe fell under the jurisdiction of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Churchill said he had spoken to the EPA office and, since the project only disrupted a small area, it was not within their jurisdiction and did not require additional permitting.

Conway and commissioner Daniel Gagne were not fully in agreement, believing that Churchill had only discovered the EPA's requirements during construction, not after the fact when discharged water would flow into the abutting stream.

Churchill said he was sure he was correct and that Motta had not commented on that point either, but Churchill provided contact information to Conway for his own follow-up.

The hearing was continued until February 19.

Also continued until February 19 was a Notice of Intent hearing for Borrego Solar Systems for a solar array field proposed for 75 Vaughan Hill Road, and a Notice of Intent filed by Schoen and Bonnie Morrison, 15 Cranberry Highway, for the conversion of an office building to a daycare and event center.

The next meeting of the Rochester Conservation Commission is scheduled for February 19 at 7:00 pm in the town hall meeting room.

ORR Back-to-Back SCC Boys Swim Champs

than second place Seekonk (337).

Though nothing is a given, it wasn't exactly a major surprise the Bulldogs took care of business and by such a significant margin. Mainly because they never lost a dual meet in SCC play this season.

"It was awesome," Old Rochester Regional coach Mitch Suzan said. "It definitely was a good feeling. We had a lot of top-six finishes. We had multiple swimmers swimming really well. [We had] a lot of personal best times. They've been working really hard."

Top dog at the meet was Jacob Cuoco who won two individual heats and helped take first in a relay. Cuoco was the top finisher in both the 200 free (1:51.49) and the 100 butterfly (52.65). He was also a cog in the 4x400 freestyle relay that took first with a 3:31.37 finish, partnering up with Sam Harris, Michael Holmes, and Colin Kulak.

Old Rochester Regional girls swimming took third overall at the meet with 258 points. However, Jenna Durgin did have herself a big day as she set the SCC Championship meet record in the 200 freestyle with a 2:02.66. Rachel Perry won the 100 butterfly and Charlotte Cole took first in diving (172.05 points). ORR's 4x200 relay group of Durgin, Perry, Claire Noble-Shriver, and Sarah Besancon took first with a 1:51.65 finish.

ORR boys basketball took a tough loss at the hands of Somerset Berkley on Friday, losing 81-61. The loss marks three in a row for the Bulldogs who need to regroup so their postseason stock doesn't fall further. However, making the postseason, in general, shouldn't be an issue with the Bulldogs (9-5) only needing one more to qualify. Nick Johnson was the lone bright spot in the loss to Somerset Berkley, scoring 21 for Old Rochester Regional. Cole McIntyre also chipped in 10 points.

Old Colony

Old Colony girls basketball continues to fight for its playoff hopes having won back-to-back wins to start a six-game stretch where the Cougars have to win every night.

"We're still looking for small goals to get to the tournament. We'll continue to work, play as a team, and try to make some noise when we get there," Old Colony girls basketball coach Craig Lincoln said, "We're looking at one game at a time and we'll take care of business Wednesday and if we do that, we'll move forward."

The Cougars' most recent win came against Diman in a 31-29 nail biter. With the Bengals adjusting late in the game to focus on Savannah Halle (nine points) defensively, Kat Kirby helped steer the Cougars to a win, finishing with 11 points, seven assists, as well as four rebounds.

"[Diman] played phenomenal defense in the second half," Lincoln said. "[They] made it really tough for [Halle] to do anything offensively, so we had to switch what we wanted to do and we weren't really executing as cleanly as I would have liked to see it. But the ball movement was good. We still got shots off, but I think we settled a little too much at that point.

"We've talked about it since the first week of the season that she's going to get more isolated defense because of the freshman year she had," continued Lincoln. "And the fact that [Old Colony 2018 graduate] Abby [Cioper] is gone this year. We knew people were going to be locking her down."

Lincoln was also pleased to see Kirby step into the role of leader in her team's time of need.

"I'm so proud of her," he said. "As a basketball player, her IQ is improving every day. The fact that she leads this team on both sides of the ball – she's just fun to have around in practice and in games every day. She's a great kid to coach."

Old Colony continues to make an impact on the ice with 10 Cougars making up the Apponequet/Bishop Connolly/Old Colony roster. The Lakers have surged back to give themselves a shot at qualifying for the postseason, now 5-8 and needing to win four of their last five games.

Key contributors to the surge have been Ethan Harrop and Zach Lovendale, two Old Colony students. Harrop is second on the team with 10 goals and nine assists for 19 points and Lovendale has 13 points on the year.

However, their success doesn't stun Lakers coach Craig Correia.

"You take into account the fact that every Freetown-Lakeville kid that plays hockey will play for the same team regardless of which school they go to – unless they go to the Catholic school," he said. "They grew up playing together."

To achieve the dean's list distinction, students must carry a full program of at least four courses, have a quality point average of 3.5 or greater out of a possible 4.0 and carry no single grade lower than a C- during the course of their college career. Each student receives a letter of commendation and congratulation from their college dean.

Kelsey Elizabeth Halloran of Marion was named to The University of Alabama President's List for fall 2018. A total of 12,332 students enrolled during the 2018 fall term at UA were named to the dean's list with an academic record of 3.5 or above or the president's list with an academic record of 4.0 (all A's).

Springfield College has named Ashley Pacheco of Rochester to the dean's list for academic excellence for the fall 2018 term. Pacheco is studying Health Science/Pre-physician Assistant. commissioned an architectural survey of Marion's historic homes and buildings. The survey was funded one-half by the Sippican Historical Society and one-half by the Massachusetts Historical Commission. Due to the limits of funding, not all of the historic buildings were surveyed, but over 100 were catalogued and photographed. The results of the survey are in digital form on the Massachusetts Historical Commission's website and in four binders in the Sippican Historical Society's office (and at the Marion Town Clerk's office).

Marion (Old Rochester) is one of the oldest towns in the United States, and the Sippican Historical Society maintains an extensive collection of documentation on its historic buildings. The Sippican Historical Society will preview one building a week so that the residents of Marion can understand more about its unique historical architecture.

This installment features 2 Main Street. Of all the area's thoroughfares, the densely built-up Main Street has the most picturesquely antique appearance. Main Street west of School Street was set out in 1829. The late Georgian residence at 2 Main Street is known as the "Two Captains' House" for its owners, Capt. Elisha E. Luce and Capt. Noble E. Bates. Captain Luce moved into this house shortly after his marriage to Jane Hiller, daughter of Timothy Hiller. (The latter Hiller grew up in a house at the corner of South and Water Streets that was later enlarged to become the Bay View House and the Sippican Hotel.) Luce's best-known ship was the Persia, which made numerous profitable trade missions to the Far East. This house was also the birthplace of the Universalist Church in Marion. In the early 1830s, Universalists met in Captain Bates' part of the

Mattapoisett Complete Streets Master Plan

On Wednesday, February 13, at 6:30 pm in the Center School cafeteria, we will be meeting to seek residents input on what the Town should consider in its Complete Streets Priority Plan. A Complete Streets Priority Plan needs input from residents on such issues that improve accessibility in neighborhoods for walking, safe crossing of roadways and highways, connections between neighborhoods with areas of interest such as the Council on Aging, library, business districts, parks, scenic trails, and all other areas that citizens want to get to daily. If there are impediments to your ability to access these and other areas, you should come and share your thoughts so we can get them up for consideration in a Mattapoisett Complete Streets Plan.

Being in New England, should it snow or the weather is bad, we have reserved the next day, February 14, same time and location as a backup date.

Hate ticks? Not only are ticks creepy, but the bite of a tick can transmit life-altering diseases. Don't wait for ticks to bite! Arm yourself with knowledge and stand up to them! Studies have proven that people who are taught the proper tools and techniques drastically reduce their risks for contracting any tick-borne disease. With the right knowledge and tools, all tick-borne diseases are preventable.

This special workshop will review basic tick biology, scientifically proven protection methods, and bust any commonly held myths.

Blake Dinius works as the entomologist educator for the Plymouth County Extension Service. In his current role, Dinius teaches on all topics from bed bugs to bumble bees to ticks. Dinius brings seven years of professional experience in insect research and is a lifetime lover of insects, spiders, centipedes, and all things entomology-related. Dinius earned a B.S. in Biology from the University of Massachusetts- Boston.

OBITUARIES

Constance Ann (Whittaker) Miller died on Tuesday January 8, 2019. The youngest of three, Connie was raised in Marion, Massachusetts. She was one of the first girls ever to attend Tabor Academy in Marion. From a young age, Connie was a gifted musician and during high school was selected to attend the prestigious Tanglewood Music Summer Institute youth training program under the direction of Leonard Bernstein. Connie went on to attend Radcliffe College and the Boston Conservatory of Music. She then spent her entire professional career, which spanned more than 40 years, as a cellist for the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra. In her later career she also served as Artistic Administrator of the Philharmonic, selecting all of the guest performers.

Connie was deeply engaged in her community, serving for several years as the first female President of the Harvard Club of Western New York and actively competing in sculling at the West Side Rowing Club (including winning a medal at the Empire State Games). Upon her retirement in 1998, Connie returned to her hometown of Marion and enjoyed an active life, which included biking, walks on the beach, and undertaking copious amounts of yard maintenance and gardening on her own.

She loved lobster rolls, fresh fish, peppermint stick ice cream, and watching the birds outside of her sunny kitchen window. Inspired by the beauty of New England nature and childhood memories, she took up watercolor painting at the age of 75. Connie was also a lifelong advocate for animals and leaves behind her deeply loved cat, Emily.

Connie was preceded in death by her mother Constance Whittaker, her sister Elizabeth Bunnell, and her brother Edwin Whittaker. She will be lovingly remembered by her son David, her daughter Katherine, her daughter-in-law Sarah, and her grandchildren Allison, Isabela, Sabine, Roman, and Henley.

A memorial service will be held on Saturday, February 16th at 10:30 am in the Chapel at St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church, 124 Front Street Marion, MA 02738. A reception will follow at Harriet's Carriage House, 7 Cottage Street, Marion, MA. Charitable contributions may be made in Connie's memory to the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra (www.bpo.org [1]) or the ASPCA (www.aspc.org [2]).

She was hired by the Department in 1996 to develop a team building/interpersonal communication training. At the time, there was no literature about such training for engineering students. Bonnie developed new methods and materials which evolved into the current Team Management program in the class. ### Winter StoryWalk Comes to Peirson Woods

Sippican Lands Trust (SLT) is featuring a Winter StoryWalk at its Peirson Woods property from February 1 to March 1 in Marion. This year's Winter StoryWalk at Peirson Woods features "Owl Moon" written by Jane Yolen and illustrated by John Schoenherr.

StoryWalk is an innovative and delightful way for children — and adults! — to enjoy reading and the outdoors at the same time. Laminated pages from a children's book are attached to wooden stakes, which are installed along an outdoor path. As you stroll down the trail, you're directed to the next page in the story.

Peirson Woods is a 30-acre parcel of land with woodlands and wetlands including a vibrant salt marsh. The property is home to numerous species of birds including herons, winter buffleheads, and osprey. Located at the head of Blankenship Cove, this property features a trail leading from Point Road to a viewing platform overlooking the head of the Cove. On a clear winter day, Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard, and the northern Elizabeth Islands can be seen.

The parking area for Peirson Woods is located just off of Point Road approximately 1.4 miles south of the intersection of Route 6 (Wareham Road) and Point Road in Marion. Parking is very limited so please be careful when parking your vehicle along Point Road.

The Winter StoryWalk at Peirson Woods will be open from sunrise to sunset starting Friday, February 1 through Friday, March 1, 2019. Adults and kids of all ages are welcome and for further information about the Winter StoryWalk at Peirson Woods visit www.sippicanlandstrust.org or call Sippican Lands Trust at 508-748-3080.

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

"Heathers: The Musical (High School Edition)" is Tabor Academy's pick for this year's winter musical opening on Thursday, February 14, and running through Saturday, February 16. The shows start at 7:30 pm at Tabor's Fireman Center for the Performing Arts in Hoyt Hall at 245 Front Street, Marion. The shows are free and open to the general public, and no tickets or reservations are required. Photos by Jean Perry

Above: Despite the impending Polar Vortex, a small hardy group learned to identify some of our local trees and shrubs in winter. Have you ever smelled a black cherry? (Yuck!) Or a yellow birch? (Yum!) We learned about opposite and alternate leaf arrangement on a branch, what lenticels look like on a birch and a hickory, and that you can make tea out of sassafras. Thank you to Sarah Porter for the great program. Photos courtesy Elizabeth Leidhold performance of their winter musical, Heathers: The Musical (HSE) on February 14-16 at 7:30 pm.

Heathers: The Musical, a satire dealing with the challenges of teen life, became an Off-Broadway hit in 2014. Because the subject matter was so relevant to high schools, the creators of the show, Kevin Murphy and Laurence O'Keefe, worked closely with Pearce High School in Richardson, TX, from 2015 through 2016 to develop a "toned-down" high school edition (HSE) of the show. Tabor's director, Mark Howland, said, "Tabor students must have been on top of that story for a number of them were calling for us to stage Heathers two years ago. Indeed, the clarion call has gone out as more than fifteen high schools from CA, OR, AZ, TX, WI, IA, TN, GA, VA, and MA are staging Heathers: The Musical this year."

Howland shared, "While Heathers: The Musical (HSE) delves into such hot-button topics as body shaming, sexual harassment, and suicide, it does so with humor and sensitivity. The creators have claimed in fact that they feel the show is about female empowerment. Rather than avoid these taboo topics, Heathers: The Musical (HSE) tackles them head on but through the lens of satire, showing us that high schoolers need to be kinder to each other, and adults who work with them need to be more clued in. At Tabor, the offices of Community Life, Equity and Inclusion, and Counseling Services have been involved in training and educating the cast and crew from the get-go. Our goal is that the show be a catalyst for the school community to further awareness and empathy."

The show runs February 14, 15, 16 at 7:30 pm in Tabor's Fireman Center for the Performing Arts in Hoyt Hall at 245 Front Street, Marion. It is free and open to the public, no tickets or reservations required. Kerry Saltonstall, Director of Communications, shared, "We hope you will join us for Heathers as we utilize Tabor theater to expand awareness and hopefully to effect change in our communities."

Music at the MAC - The Marion Art Center welcomes The David Mitton Project to the MAC stage on Saturday, February 23 at 7:30 pm (doors open at 7:00 pm).

David Mitton, a graduate from the Longy School of Music (2010) is a saxophonist and composer. Since graduating he has produced three albums: Catapult (2013), Microcosm (2015), and Trace (2018) under the name The David Mitton Project. Mitton has been performing regularly with The Flying Dutchmen for nearly 5 years and is in the process of writing a practice guide for scales, in relation to composition and improvisation. Mitton's musical style is within the jazz idiom, with a focus on hard bop and free jazz, as well as more popular styles such as funk and R&B. Expect to hear interplay between instruments and improvisation over progressions, influenced by such genres. Mitton will perform original material and what he calls "underrated standards," rearranged to make them his own. The David Mitton Project also includes Jim Robitaille on guitar, John Dalton on drums, and Stefano Battaglia on bass. Jim Robitaille is a seasoned guitarist and composer and a professor of music at UMass Dartmouth and has

Trapped

The Girl in the Spider's Web*. Starring Claire Foy and Sverrir Gudnason. Directed by Fede Álvarez. Running time: 115 minutes. MPAA rating: R. Available starting this week on physical and streaming media.

It's been almost a decade since I last saw the original Swedish trilogy of thrillers featuring Lisbeth Salander, but I don't quite remember them being reheated James Bond, as The Girl in the Spider's Web often is. This is based on the fourth book in the series, taken over by writer David Lagercrantz after Lisbeth's creator, Stieg Larsson, permanently clocked out in 2004. I couldn't tell you whether Larsson would have approved of what Lagercrantz has done with Larsson's hero, though I wonder if Larsson's plans for her included such pulpy touches as Lisbeth's sociopathic twin sister emerging from the shadows to incinerate the world with the help of a vicious gang called the Spiders.

Handled differently, a plot development like that would nudge a movie into cult-favorite status to be ironically enjoyed. But director Fede Álvarez (Don't Breathe, the Evil Dead remake) seems to be locked into the grim, dreary tone apparently required by producer Scott Rudin. Rudin also produced 2011's American version of The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo, which made a lot of money being grim and dreary, and so Spider's Web is commanded to go and do likewise. When Álvarez can put an action scene together, he excels; the movie is full of chases and gunplay and strange torture, like the other films, but Álvarez brings something heavy and muscular to it. Towards the end, when a sniper takes out some bad guys, we feel the propulsive punch of those bullets.

A Lisbeth Salander movie is only as good as its Lisbeth, and Noomi Rapace, who fleshed out the hero in the Swedish films, leaves cavernous shoes to fill. Rooney Mara couldn't manage it in 2011, but Claire Foy, who steps in here, is a different story. She nails the character's essential spiky loneliness and skittishness. It shouldn't look cool to be Lisbeth, whose lifetime of abuse from scummy men starting with her own father has mutilated her soul. Foy understands this — her Lisbeth looks more saddened than bad-ass. Her flickers of caring about others, like her friend and one-time lover, journalist Mikael Blomkvist (Sverrir Gudnason), come across as vulnerability but also a kind of relieved reaching towards connection. Foy shows us a blunted humanity under the scabs and scars.

Put Foy up against Sylvia Hoeks (the frightening killer replicant in Blade Runner 2049) as Lisbeth's anarchic sister Camilla and you should have an affair to remember. And in truth, it all leads to a scene between these formidable actresses that very nearly justifies the existence of the whole creaky movie. Lisbeth, it seems, ran away from home — and from her father's sexual abuse — as a girl, leaving Camilla there to absorb his evil. Lisbeth grew up to be a brilliant hacker and remorseless avenger of abused women. This sister twist, though, recasts Lisbeth as a goth Clarice Starling, driven to save the lambs again and again because she failed to save one — her sister. The one who escaped is damaged enough, but the one who got left behind ended up morally diseased by years of proximity with evil. Camilla asks Lisbeth why she rescued everyone but her. It's a fair question, and Lisbeth has no real answer.

The rest of Spider's Web, though, feels inessential. Even though Stieg Larsson himself reportedly planned ten Lisbeth/Mikael novels, maybe the pained and rageful Lisbeth doesn't and shouldn't work as a franchise hero. Her whole M.O. is bringing the pain to deserving men, but here her ultimate adversary is a woman — and, of course, not just a woman. Whatever integrity this character has, it demands that she never really heal or grow, and it seems insensitive — even cruel — to keep re-animating her to face more devils and scum. (A fifth novel, The Girl Who Takes an Eye for an Eye, was published in 2017.) Since Spider's Web was a worldwide flop in comparison with its more heavily hyped predecessor, it appears likely that this latest cinematic go-round for Lisbeth will be her last; she's a great character, but I think she's earned retirement.

Online Scholarship Applications Open

The 2019 application process for 60 scholarships awarded by the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts is open and available online at www.cfsema.org.

This year, the Community Foundation anticipates the award of $400,000 in financial aid, and area students can apply online for these scholarships by clicking the "Scholarships" page on the Community Foundation website. Scholarships for students from throughout Southeastern Massachusetts are available for accepted high school seniors, as well as adults pursuing advanced degrees to enhance their professional careers. The deadline for all applicants to complete submission requirements is March 1.

"The Community Foundation is pleased to offer a wide range of scholarships reflecting the broad diversity of the students in Southeastern Massachusetts pursuing a higher education," said President John Vasconcellos. "With rising tuition costs, it is more and more difficult for students and their families to pay for a college education. We hope that many students throughout our region will check out our website and apply for these scholarships."

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Seeing the silly side of some really ridiculous situations helps give the Lamb a new perspective on how to handle them. Some important contacts can be made this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try to complete your outstanding tasks by midweek. This leaves you free to take advantage of new possibilities -- both professional and personal -- opening up by week's end.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) With both your creative side and your energy levels rising this week, you should be able to tackle that too-long-neglected project again. A family member might have important news.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) An explanation you requested seems to be more confusing than enlightening. You should insist on clarifications now, rather than deal with problems that might arise later.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Your energy levels might be ebbing a bit. But that's no excuse for taking catnaps when you could be working on those unfinished tasks. There'll be time to curl up and relax by week's end.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) It's a good time to get those ideas out of your head and into a readable format if you hope to have them turned into something doable. A good friend is ready with worthwhile advice.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Careful -- you might be stepping into dangerous territory if you decide to "exaggerate" the facts too much. Remember: The truth speaks for itself and needs no embellishment.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Although your workplace successes have earned you many admirers, there are some colleagues who are not among them. Be careful how you proceed with your new project.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might have to go into great detail to explain why you're currently reluctant to make changes to an already prepared plan. Be sure you have all the facts to back yourself up.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Travel plans might still be uncertain. But instead of getting upset about the delay, open yourself up to other possibilities, and begin checking out some alternative destinations.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Changing conditions might require you to alter some of your plans. While you might be agreeable to this, be prepared with explanations for those who do not want changes made.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Although you might have to deal with some detractors who aren't too kind in their critiques, you gain points when you're willing to stand up and defend your work.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for creating a warm and loving environment between yourself and others.

NBSO Presents Roses and Thorns

On Saturday, February 16, the New Bedford Symphony Orchestra presents Roses and Thorns under the direction of Yaniv Dinur and featuring Korean cellist Christine J. Lee. Lee, a laureate of the first Queen Elisabeth International Cello Competition and artist-in-residence at the Chapelle Musicale Reine Elisabeth in Belgium, will perform Andrea Tarrodi's Highlands Cello Concerto, inspired by the landscape of the Scottish Highlands. Swedish composer Tarrodi is the third of four female composers featured in this season's programming. The concert also includes two warhorses: the dazzling suite from Strauss's opera The Knight of the Rose and Tchaikovsky's beloved Fifth Symphony.

The NBSO is experimenting with a stage extension at this concert that seeks to improve the acoustics of the concert hall and allows for a larger orchestra. The first three, and in some places four, rows of seats will be covered by the extension. Concertgoers are encouraged to provide feedback on the performance.

One Book, Tri-Town Explores Literature, Art, and History

The Elizabeth Taber Library in Marion, the Mattapoisett Free Public Library, and the Joseph H. Plumb Memorial Library in Rochester announce an exciting new program: One Book, Tri-Town. We will be reading The Muralist by B. A. Shapiro leading up to a visit by the author on Sunday, May 19 at the Mattapoisett Free Public Library. Copies of the novel in various formats will be available from each of the three libraries.

The Muralist is a novel about Alizee Benoit, a young painter working on murals for the Works Progress Administration (WPA) when she vanishes in 1940. No one knows what has happened to her, not her arts patron Eleanor Roosevelt, or her friends and fellow WPA artists Jackson Pollock, Mark Rothko, and Lee Krasner. Seventy years later, her great niece Danielle uncovers enigmatic paintings hidden behind works by those now famous artists. Do they hold the answers about her missing aunt? The novel discusses the WPA artists project, the Depression and the New Deal, World War II, the Holocaust, as well as bringing us into the world of mural painting and the early history of three famous artists.

Starting in February 2019, the three libraries will be coordinating some exciting programs on some of the topics discussed in the book. On Saturday, February 23 at 2:00 pm at the Mattapoisett Free Public Library, there will be a book and movie discussion on John Steinbeck's prize-winning epic of the Great Depression, The Grapes of Wrath. Copies of the book will be available at the three libraries for pickup. We will discuss Steinbeck's novel, then watch the film. If you would like to take part in this program and to reserve a copy of Grapes of Wrath, call your local library to register, or go to the Events Calendar on the Plumb Library website, www.plumblibrary.com and register there. Other programs being scheduled: a 1930's folk song sing-along on March 17; a showing of the film Pollack on March 20; a concert of music by WPA composers by pianist Leslie Amper in April, and more. Children and older students will also be involved both in the libraries and in the schools.

This program is supported in part by grants from the Marion Cultural Council, Mattapoisett Cultural Council, and the Rochester Cultural Council, local agencies which are supported by the Mass Cultural Council, a state agency. Support is also being provided by the Friends of Plumb Library, and the Friends of the Mattapoisett Free Public Library. It is being planned by the committee consisting of Library Directors Susan Pizzolato of Mattapoisett, Elizabeth Sherry of Marion, and Gail Roberts of Rochester, and other community partners and volunteers.

will be in to talk about the life cycle of this important fish species. Dave will explain what he does in his role and what efforts are being made to help them survive.

April 24 - Insects with Blake Dinius Blake is an entomologist with Plymouth County Extension Service. We will be using insect nets to see what bugs we can catch. Then we'll take a close look with the use of magnifiers and microscopes, and hopefully identify a few of the species.

May 1 - Bird Island Trip with the Marion Harbormaster's office. We will be visiting the newly restored nesting habitat of the Roseate Tern. The center of the island has been filled in and vegetation added to make the island more hospitable for these rare and endangered birds.

May 8 - Bird Island Trip 2 Our rain/overflow date for our popular Bird Island trip.

May 15 - Soil Critters with Maggie Payne, Soil Scientist with the U.S.D.A. Did you know there are more living organisms in a tablespoon of healthy soil than there are people on earth? Come explore the life beneath our feet and discover the importance of not treating our soils like dirt.

May 22 - Water Bottle Rockets with Dr. Dills of the UMass Dartmouth Chemistry Department. During construction of our rockets we will learn a little something about aerodynamics, altitude and how our design impacts the duration of the flight. Please save up your 2 liter bottles now for this explosive program!

June 5 - This is Rocket Science! Join us while learning about propulsion and lift with Mike Cronin. Each child will have his/her own rocket with motor to assemble and set off. The cost for this program is $20 per participant. Submit payment to Marion Natural History Museum. Space is limited to 12 children ages 6 and older, on a first-come, first-served basis. Parent volunteers are encouraged to help with rocket assembly. This program tends to run long, so please plan accordingly. Rain date June 6.

All programs are held at the Museum from 3:30 - 4:30pm unless otherwise noted. To register please go to the museum's website: www.marionmuseum.org.

Marion Visiting Nurses Fund

Do you know of Marion neighbors who need help and do not know where to turn? Every day we receive calls from individuals in the community who are facing a new diagnosis, who are caring for a loved one, who need help navigating the increasingly complex healthcare continuum, who cannot afford essential quality of life items or who have not seen a doctor in years. Too many of them do not know where to turn.

Because of a generous grant from the Friends of Marion Visiting Nurse Association, Marion residents, family members, EMTs, the Council on Aging, town officials or clinicians - anyone - can make direct requests or referrals for support, guidance or services for those in need. We can offer experts, clinicians and specialized services for no charge to the individual or family.

Requests and referrals can be sent directly to Community Nurse by email to grants@communitynurse.com or can be made by phone (508) 992-6278. Please see complete the attached form or be prepared to provide the requested information over the phone. Approved grant will provide intermittent and short-term services. Requests should fall into one of the following categories: Care transition consultation and care; Caregiver guidance and navigation; Comfort care; Community Health Worker outreach; Complimentary nursing evaluation visits; Dementia care and support; End of life care and education; Guidance/support Social Worker; Health

Upon receipt, all requests are submitted to a granting committee. The committee quickly comes to a decision as to whether the Marion Visiting Nurses Fund can help or if another organization or program is more appropriate. A quick turnaround is important as many of these needs are urgent or seem urgent to those in need.

Once a request by or for a Marion resident is approved, someone can go to their home to assess, guide and refer them to get what is needed to support their welfare. We are also able to offer specialized programs and education in the community that will help Marion residents take control of their own health and wellness.

For more information or for any questions about the Marion Visiting Nurses Fund or Community Nurse Home Care, please do not hesitate to reach out to us directly at 508-992-6278.
